Total Shootings and Shots Fired Incidents

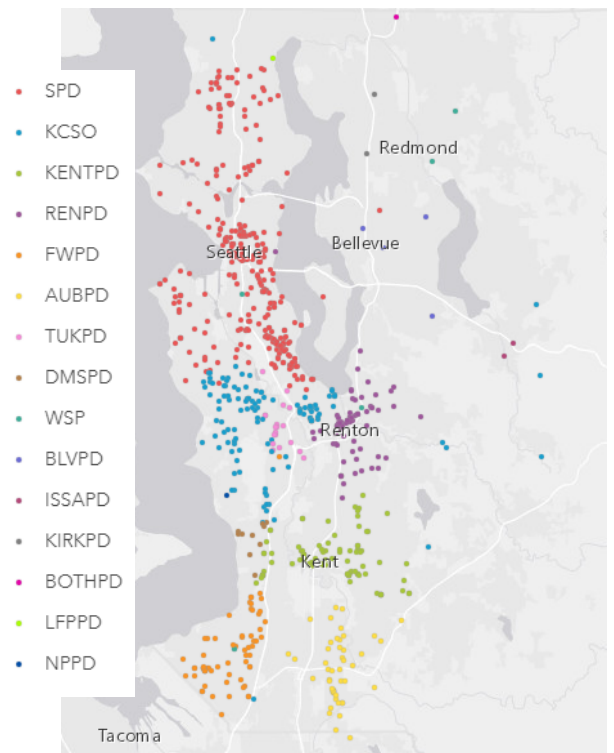

The numbers of firearm homicide victims, nonfatal shooting victims, and total shots fired incidents for 2020 Q1-Q3 (January-September) are listed below. This data primarily comes from the 8 jurisdictions in King County (listed below) that have historically had over 90% of firearm violence, but also includes data from many of the smaller jurisdictions in King County. This does not include suicides or officer involved shootings.

Geographic Distribution

Shootings in King County are not evenly distributed by jurisdiction. We currently collect data from over 20 agencies, but a majority the data comes from 8 agencies: Seattle, Auburn, Des Moines, Federal Way, Kent, Renton, Tukwila, and the King County Sheriff's Office (including unincorporated King County and 16 contract cities). These 8 agencies account for roughly 79% of King County's population. In 2020 Q1-Q3, 56% of the total shots fired incidents and 54% of the shooting victims (both firearm homicide victims and non-fatal shooting victims) were from agencies outside of Seattle. Both of these are less than the three-year average for 2017-2019 in which 60% of all shots fired incidents and 58% of all shooting victims were from agencies outside of Seattle.
